Hastie wins $119 million Gold Coast hospital contract

Hastie Group Limited, the leading international provider of technical services to the building and infrastructure sectors, has been awarded a $119 million contract to provide mechanical, hydraulic and medical gas services for the new $1.76 billion Gold Coast University Hospital in Queensland. The contract has been awarded to Hastie by Bovis Lend Lease, which has been appointed managing contractor by Queensland Health, following an extensive evaluation of Hastie's integrated service offering.

Work is starting immediately and the majority of services will be delivered during the 2011 and 2012 financial years. Hastie dedicated integrated project delivery teams are being accommodated adjacent to the site.

The new hospital will provide research and teaching facilities, as well as clinical services. Constructed on a 19 hectare site at Parklands Drive, Southport, it will have 750 beds and provide a range of medical services including radio therapy neuroscience, neonatal intensive care, high level trauma response and cardiac surgery.

'We are delighted Bovis Lend Lease has chosen Hastie for this major healthcare project,' said Mr David Harris, Hastie's Group Managing Director and CEO. 'The Gold Coast University Hospital contract confirms Hastie's position as Australasia's leading technical building services provider for the healthcare sector, and one of the world's leaders in this specialised field that requires the highest quality standards. The contract also endorses Hastie's model which enables local delivery of specialist services, supported by the group's global expertise, and provides seamless integrated solutions for major projects.'

'Hastie has now completed, or is undertaking, healthcare projects with a total value of more than $1.5 billion. These include contracts announced in October 2009 to provide electrical services for the Medical Research Council Laboratory of Molecular Biology in Cambridge and mechanical, hydraulic and electrical services for the Parkville Neuroscience facility in Melbourne.'

Hastie Group Limited is the leading international designer, installer and maintainer of technical services to the building and infrastructure sectors - mechanical, electrical, hydraulics and refrigeration group with well established operations in Australasia, UK and Ireland, and The Middle East. It has over 7,000 employees based at over 110 locations. The group operates under brands which are well recognised in their markets, and customers include many of the largest construction companies, shopping centre groups, industrial corporations and facility managers. Hastie Group Limited is a member of the S&P/ASX200 Index.
